> WHITE HUNTERS TRESPASSING ON INDIAN RESERvations.—The commissioner of Indian affairs today received a telegram from Indian Agent Porter at the Fort Peck agency, dated Poplar Creek, Montana, December 28th, in which he reports the Milk River country, on the Assianaboine and Yanktonnals Sloux reservation overrun with white hunters, who are slaughtering buffalo by the thousand every day. The Indians, he says, are becoming restiess because the trespassers are not driven away, and unless semething is done at once there will be trouble between the hunters and the Indians. Agent Porter asks that the military be directed to drive the hunters off. He says the the army is in sympaty with them, and asks that such orders be issued as will teach white hunters Irwin Station, Pa.; Thadeus W. Fancher, at Lothat the soldier is there to protect Indians in their rain, Ohio; Thos. H. Blake, at Lebanon, Ohio; white hunters had no right on the reservation, and that the Secretary of War would be asked today to have them removed. FINAL ACTION IN THE CASE OF SURGEON OWEN.-The court-martial in the case of Surgeon Owen, U. S. N., recently tried at the Washington navy yard on a charge of having advised and urged Capt. Hopkins (recently dismissed) to leave, without authority, the Pensacola, Fla., navy yard during the yellow fever epidemic, have found him "not guilty." The Secretary of the Navy has disaproved of the findings, however, on the ground that Dr. Owen knew that he was helping Capt. Hopkins to make an excuse for running away from his post, when he also knew that the captain was in hourly communication with the department, and could have secured official leave of absence or such orders as might govern his action. While disapproving the acquittal, the Secretary ordered Surgeon Owen's release from arrest and return to his station and duties. Mr. Olmstead's Case.

WHAT THE COMMITTER WILL DO. Senator Rollins stated to a reporter of THE STAR at the Capitol to-day that the telegram to the Associated Press that the sub-committee of the District committee had agreed to report favorably the nomination of J. F. Olmstead to be a District Commissioner was untrue. Said he: "The subcommittee has made no report either favorably or adversely."

The nomination will not be reported upon by the sub-committee until the next meeting of the District committee, which will be Thursday of next week. It is not improbable that at the next meeting of the District committee the nomination will be reported by the sub-committee without recommendation, and that the charges made against the nominee will be considered by the full committee. This will give all parties to the controversy the VIEWS OF MR. HAYES, PRESIDENT OF THE TARIFF COMMISSION. Hon. John L. Hayes, president of the tariff commission, is still in the city. He said this morning, in conversation about the work of the ways and means committee: "The committee is doing just what we would have done had time permitted. They are putting in an article here and there and completing the classification rather than mater-ially changing the rates, recommended by the commission." "Then you regard the changes made as no re-lection upon the work of the commission?"

"Oh, no! No reflection whatever. The work being done by the committee is quite necessary and proper. To make our work complete, we should have had time to print the schedules and send them to the representative men of various interests for their comments and suggestions; but it was quite impossible to do this in the time we

"When do you think the committee will be ready to report?"
"Oh, in a couple of weeks."
"And will there not be many opinions, speeches and delays on the floor of the House?"
"There will be opinions and speeches, but I trink there will not be great delay. The majority can arrange by caucuses, or it some way, to prevent unnecessary delay."

Mr. Hayes seemed confident that the tariff would be revised this session on the plan recommended both of the President and Vice-President, was Mr. Hoar spoke briefly of the defects of the pres ent arrangement for the performance of the duties of President in such cases and the necessity for such legislation as the bill proposes. The bill provides that in case of the removal, death, resign:tion or inability of both the President and the Vice President, the Secretary of State shall act as President until the end of the term; if there be none, that the Secretary of the Treasury shall so act; next, the Secretary of War; next, the Attorney General; next, the Postmaster General; next, the Secretary of the Navy, and last, the Secretary of the Interior. The Secretary of State, Mr. Hoan said, was always a man regarded by the great mass of the people as well fitted to fill the office of President, and nearly always a representative of the principles and policy of the President, so that his succession to the position of acting President would be likely front breadth and revers of "crushed-strawberry" to carry out the policy approved by the people in electing his predecessor; and this would give additional security to the life of the President. DECISION OF JUDGE WYLIE.

Judge Wylle said the statutes of the United States made frauds upon the government, of whatever kind conceivable, criminal. Fraud upon the United States was a crime. A conspiracy to com- girls and handsome toilets. The programme of The President sent the following nominations to differently. Judge Wylie thought that in framing the indictment it could have been improved by being shortened. He thought most of the deregarding means could have been if the conspiracy was to conspiracy was offense against the means need not be set out. The anxiety of the pleader to have no mistake occur induced him to draw it out. This was a dangerous proceeding, but dangerous as it was he had not yet seen any fatal defect in the indictment. The petition objected to was in testimony as part of the records of the case. Now it was proposed to prove, he understood, that this petition was false. If it were so proved it fell under the description in the indictment of false and fraudulent means and was competent evidence. Though there might be some evidence which, when offered, appeared slight, yet from the nature of the case it ought to be admitted. Its importance will appear only when other evidence appears. He thought it very unwise in a case that promised to be so protracted to try the case on objections to evidence. He thought the best course of a judge, when the evidence was not incompetent in itself, to admit it, and let it all come before the court and jury.

The court at this point took a recess. A SCENE IN COURT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON. After THE STAR'S report closed yesterday, Mr. Dorsey, Turner and Valle were all interested and took part in the management of that route. The point was raised by the defense against admitting Chas. H. French, sub-contractor on the Kearney & the sub-contract in evidence; that it was dated in 1878, beyond the limits of the statute of limitations. After a long discussion, Judge Wylie said that if the conspiracy was in existence on the date named, the defendants did then combine, conspire, &c., in the view of the law. "There is no authority for that," said Mr. Car-"There is no authority for that," said Mr. Carpenter, "except that of this court."

"The authority of this court," said Judge Wylie, severely, "is sufficient here. Your language is not to be put up with, sir. This court has had no authority cited on the subject by either side."

"Judge Wylie added that he would hear Mr. Carpenter's authorities but Mr. Carpenter said he was not ready to submit them."

"The question is decided, and the court will hear no reargument." The court shortly afterwards adjourned until to-
